Most notably, he was the lead for Deloitte in supporting the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) with the deployment of process robotics – the first Federal Agency to deploy a bot in production. He also was the Deloitte lead for the first server-based production automation at the Department of Agriculture (USDA).

James A. Granger II, CISSP
Senior Policy Advisor
Navy Cyber Defense Operations Command (NCDOC)

Jim Granger is the Senior Policy Advisor at the Navy Cyber Defense Operations Command (NCDOC). A native of Portsmouth, RI, he graduated from Portsmouth High School in 1981. He received a Bachelor of Science degree from Pennsylvania State University, University Park, PA and was commissioned an Ensign in May 1985 through the NROTC.
After leaving active duty, Jim Granger took a position as a Computer Specialist in the Information Resource Management department of the Naval Education and Training Center, Newport, RI. In this position he led the growth of information resources from three local area networks (LAN) serving 170 users to ten LANs supporting over 1000 users. He implemented electronic message dissemination, electronic mail, and Internet access.

In March, 1997, he took a position in the Operations Department at the Fleet Information Warfare Center (FIWC). He initially worked in the NAVCIRT Division as a computer network security incident handler and principal advisory drafter. During this period he attended training in Incident Handling, Windows NT Administration, and Unix. After sixteen months, he moved over to Computer Network Defense (CND) Operations as the acting division officer and Red Team Officer. From there he fleeted up to become the Deputy Operations Officer (N3B).

In June of 2003, the NAVCIRT was moved out of FIWC and merged with the Navy Component Task Force, Computer Network Defense (NCTF-CND), the new organization being named NAVCIRT. He led the transition efforts and became Technical Director after the new task force stood up. In 2006 NAVCIRT was commissioned as a command and renamed NCDOC. NCDOC is the Navy’s CND Service Provider (CNDSP), an Echelon III command under Commander, TENTH Fleet, and operationally aligned to U.S. Cyber Command. NCDOC was the first Level III certified CNDSP within DoD, and the first to be reaccredited twice as a Level III CNDSP.

In October 2007 NCDOC realigned into two primary directorates, Capabilities and Readiness, and Operations, and he became the first Director of Capabilities and Readiness. In this role he was responsible for four major functional areas: Infrastructure, Development, Mission Analysis, and Training and Exercises and over 100 military, civilian, and contractor personnel.

In April 2014 he was reassigned as the Director of the Commander’s Action Group, where he coordinates the command’s response to major issues that touch multiple areas of the command. In January 2016 he was assigned as the Director of the Future Outcomes Cell, and in May 2017 became the CTF 1020 Staff Director. In August 2017 he became the Senior Policy Advisor, responsible for strategic direction, engagement, and future initiatives.

Jim Granger is a Microsoft Certified System Engineer and Certified Information Systems Security Professional (CISSP). He was the FIWC Civilian of the Year for 2001. He was a Copernicus Award winner in 2010 and was awarded the Navy Meritorious Civilian Service award in 2011 and 2014. He has also received both DoD and DoN IM/IT awards.

Thomas W. Harker
Assistant Secretary of the Navy (Financial Management and Comptroller) at US Navy

Thomas W. Harker was sworn in as Assistant Secretary of the Navy (Financial Management and Comptroller) Jan. 2, 2018.

Tom Harker graduated from the University of California Berkeley in 1990 and received an MBA from the University of Miami in 2000. A 20 year veteran of the U.S. Coast Guard, his career was marked by operational success including multi-ton drug seizures on the high seas. Ashore, he was assigned positions of increasing responsibility in budget, acquisition, internal controls, audit readiness and financial reporting. His leadership of the Coast Guard audit readiness and internal control program contributed to the Department of Homeland Security moving from 10 successive disclaimers to a clean audit opinion. Prior to leaving active duty, Harker served at Office of Management and Budget (OMB) where he led the Campaign to Cut Waste, updated OMB Circular A-136 and drafted government-wide financial policy.

Subsequently, Harker served as an auditor and consultant at a large public accounting firm, auditing CFO Act agencies (including the first audit of the United States Marine Corps). He also assisted the Joint Staff with developing and implementing an audit readiness plan, and improved Coast Guard’s accountability for property as a consultant.

Upon his return to government, Harker led the Coast Guard financial reporting, policy, property management and audit readiness efforts. His efforts enabled the Department of Homeland Security to obtain consecutive clean audit opinions. Harker was appointed to the Senior Executive Service at the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) as the Associate Deputy Secretary for Financial Policy. While in this position, he served as the Acting Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary for Management at the VA, and as the Acting Deputy CFO for Accounting and Financial Management at the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Robert M. McNab
Director of the Dragas Center for Economic Analysis and Policy and Professor of Economics at Old Dominion University

His first tour was as Deck Watch Officer and Supply Department Head aboard CGC VIGILANT in Port Canaveral, Florida. He then served as Executive Officer aboard CGC NUNIVAK at Naval Station Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico. After selection to the Financial Management Postgraduate Program, he attended George Mason University in Fairfax, Virginia, where he earned an MBA. Upon graduating in 1998, he served as a Contract Specialist and Budget Analyst in the Major Systems Acquisition Contract.

Support (G-ACS) and Commandant’s Budget Offices (G-CBU) at Coast Guard Headquarters in Washington, D.C. From there he served as Executive Officer aboard CGC SUNDEW in Duluth, Minnesota from 2001-2003, Chief of Training and Readiness at Pacific Area Operations Headquarters from 2003-2007, and Operations Officer aboard CGC BOUTWELL in Alameda, California.

As a newly minted Commander, he served as the Comptroller at Integrated Support Command Portsmouth, Virginia, beginning in July 2008. He added the duties of the Executive Officer and completed the unit’s transition to a Base Support Unit in September 2009. He earned the Certified Government Financial Manager certification and served as the Finance Section Chief at the Deepwater Horizon Oil Spill Unified Area Command in 2010. In August 2011, he earned the Certified Defense Financial Manager with Acquisition Specialty certification from the American Society of Military Comptrollers. In November 2011 he became the Executive Officer of the newly reorganized Base Portsmouth. Returning to his home state of Texas after 25 years, he served as the Commanding Officer of Coast Guard Sector Field Office Galveston, Texas, from 2013-2015. He then served as the Commanding Officer of USCG Base Boston from July 2015 to July 2018. He currently serves as the Team Leader for the service’s Financial Management and Procurement Services Business Process Reengineering effort in Norfolk, Virginia.

His awards include two Meritorious Service Medals, two CG Commendation Medals, five CG Achievement Medals, and the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal.
